

Encinitas music school holds recital

Todd Pyke, left, director of the Encinitas School of Music, plays bass for guitar students Todd Hicks, Kelly McCluskey, both students at Oak Crest Junior High School in Encinitas, and Gavin Duffy, a student at La Jolla Country Day School, as they play a song called 'The Zoo' during the music school's spring recital held recently at La Paloma Theater in Encinitas. The recital featured more than 75 guitar students from the music school. At right, guitar student Bill Trevaskis, who attends San Marcos High School, plays lead guitar for the song 'Light My Fire.'
